

The Third Dimension of Sales

The Third Dimension of Sales is a mindset - a lifestyle as opposed to the manipulative techniques that have been taught as "sales training" since the 80s. The full series of THE THIRD DIMENSION is a methodology, a mindset, a lifestyle that is purpose built to achieve the very best life can offer and life will always offer the very best to those who discover how to take it. A clear and decisive mindset is most pronounced in a sales person because they have the consistent opportunities to display it. The Third Dimension of Sales is not just for salespeople but because a successful salesperson will develop a lifestyle built on relationships of integrity that will hold for the longterm then sales is the easiest value as a measurement of success. Any person who applies the principles that are described herein will learn that everything is naturally for you and that a purpose built existence is awaiting for that person with a passion who is willing to invest in their education.
